Betrayed by her husband. Banished from her homeland. The tragic story of Medea comes to life in a stunning post-modern production Oct 17-20 at Denver School of the Arts, that utilizes elements of traditional Greek and Japanese theatre to tell the infamous story of a woman scorned. Guaranteed to be surprisingly thrilling, both the historical and contemporary collide in a way that questions whether we as humans learn from our mistakes while showing that fatal decisions are never as simple as they appear.

In addition to a new adaptation specifically designed for DSA's approach to the classic tale, the production uses live accompaniment improvised by a group of musicians to underscore and accent the riveting story.

Medea will take place at the Schomp Auditorium at Denver School of the Arts Oct 17-20 at 7pm and Oct 20 at 2pm. A student matinee will take place on Oct 18 at 10:15am. Tickets are $18/14 for adults and $12/10 for students/seniors. For further information audiences can visit dsa.dpsk12.org or call 720-424-1713.
